

WHAT'S COMING TO THEATERS HERE

NATIONAL.
The cast which will appear in Klaw & Erlanger's new musical comedy sensation, "The Girl Behind the Gun," which has enjoyed one of the longest runs on record, at the New Amsterdam Theater, New York, and which comes here to the National Sunday, contains Donald Brian, the best young premiere in this country; John E. Hazzard, then whom there are few funnier comedians; Wide Benet, the statuette beauty; Ada Meade, magnetic, humorous, and quaint; Frank Doane, a character actor; and writing master John E. Young, a comedian of unctuous humor.

This musical play bristles with a story of rapid action, constantly interspersed with melodies that walk arm-in-arm with the characters.

POLIS.
"The Passing Show of 1918," the Winter Garden revue which is at present breaking records for attendance at Polis Theater, is to remain in Washington for one more week. Early in the week negotiations were entered into with the Messrs. Shubert, which resulted in an extension of booking for one more week only. There never has been a "Passing Show" which could boast of such an array of real talent—both known and unknown—as this 1918 edition. It contains the names of such nationally known stars as Irene Franklin and Burton Green, Willie and Eugene Howard, the Astaires, William Philbrick, George Schiller, Emily Miles, Helen Carrington, Roy Cummings, one of the world's funniest acrobatic comedians; Edward Base, an impressive tenor, and Irving Kaufman, formerly a member of the Avon Comedy Four.

BELASCO.
"Oh, Lady! Lady!" the fifth Princess Theater musical comedy, will come to the Belasco Theater next Sunday night for the entire week with the original New York cast and production.

"Oh, Lady! Lady!" like its predecessors, is the work of Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse, with a musical score from the pen of Jerome Kern. In the New York cast are Carl Randall, Vivienne Segal, Edward Abela, Reginald Mason, Harry C. Browne, Florence Shirley, Theresa Maxwell Conover, Helen F. Bolton, Harry Fisher, Constance Binney, and forty others.

B. F. KEITH'S.
Jack Norworth will headline the B. F. Keith bill next week. Among his group of songs are the Broadway favorites, "Wild Women" and "Salvation Nell," which he sings as only he can. The extra added attraction will be the dancing Marmelade sisters in dance pantomime, with David Scholer, the pianist, collaborating. Other offerings will be Maria Lo's art studies; Dickinson and Deacon in "A Musical Paprika"; Marie and Ann Clark presenting "What's a Libretto," the zany phone king; Rice and Werner in "On the Scaffold," more novelties to be announced later, and the news pictorial.

GARRICK.
Oliver Morosco's new farce, "Please Get Married," with Ernest Truex and Edith Taliaferro, supported by a typical Morosco cast, will be the next offering at the Shubert-Garrick Theater, beginning next Monday evening. Among the supporting funmakers are William Sampson, Edward See, Evans, and a host of others. The farce brought to Washington this season, and the Shubert-Garrick management anticipates its banner engagement of the season.

RIALTO.
The remaining days of the current week at Moore's Rialto Theater will be devoted to further projections of "The Spender," the delightful American comedy drama, in which the principal roles are taken by Thomas Jefferson and Bert Lytell. A wide variety of shorter camera features complete the bill.

Next week will bring to the Rialto "The Border Legion," a depiction of life in the picturesque West in the days of road agents and gold seekers, in which the stellar roles are played by Hiancio Bates and Hobart Bosworth.

The customary array of subsidiary features and the musical intervals by the Rialto Symphony Orchestra and solo artists will complete the bill.

METROPOLITAN.
"The Indestructible Wife," with Alice Brady in the central role, will occupy the screen at Crandall's Metropolitan for the last three days of the current week.

All of next week, commencing Sunday, the attraction will be "Salome," the William Fox version of the story of the Biblical siren. Theda Bara portrays the stellar role. The picture has been given a stupendous production and is said to be historically correct in every detail. The noted dance of the seven veils, of course, comes the climax to the story. More than 2,000 people are said to figure in the various scenes.

A special musical program has been arranged to form an appropriate accompaniment for the showing of the spectacle-picture.

Beauty As Much a Factor of Burlesque As Legitimate

PALACE.
Loew's Palace Theater has been taxed to its capacity all week by the throngs who attend to see "The Heart of the Humanity." The engagement of this picture must close Saturday night. It relates a gripping story of the great war, approaching from a new angle and providing a narrative that holds the attention of the viewer in a close grasp throughout.

The Palace management announces for all next week, commencing Sunday, D. W. Griffith's newest film, "A Romance of Happy Valley." This is the sixth of the great cinema spectacles produced by Griffith, of which the memorable "The Birth of a Nation" was first. Unlike the others, however, it does not depend in its appeal upon massive, smashing scenes, but rather on its subtle appeal to the emotions, and is described as a charming pastoral story.

KNICKERBOCKER.
Today and tomorrow the screen at Crandall's Knickerbocker will be occupied with "The Indestructible Wife," in which Alice Brady is starred. The Saturday attraction will be "The Girl Behind the Gun," with Billy Watson in the chief role.

The following comprise the attractions for next week: Sunday and Monday, Kitty Gordon in "Adele," Tuesday and Wednesday, Wallace Reid in "Big Game," Thursday and Friday, Anita Stewart in "Virtuous Wives," Saturday, Louise Huff in "The Heart of Gold."

CRANDALL'S.
Today and tomorrow the screen at Crandall's will be occupied with the showing of "Little Miss Hoover," a romantic photoplay in which Marguerite Clark is starred. Saturday's feature will be "The Law That Divides," starring Catherine Clifford.

Following is the program for next week: Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Dustin Farnum in "By the Light of Western Stars," Wednesday and Thursday, Madge Kennedy in "Day Dreams," a delightful fantasy; Friday and Saturday, Alice Brady in "The Indestructible Wife," based on the well-known play of that title.

GARDEN.
Today at Moore's Garden Theater the attraction will be "She Hired a Husband," in which the stellar role is portrayed by Priscilla Dean. Tomorrow and Saturday Juanita Hansen will be the star in "The Sea Flower."

Next week will be distinguished at the Garden, Sunday through Wednesday, by the first Washington projections of the latest photoplay release in which the stellar role is taken by J. Warren Kerrigan, "The Drifters." For the last three days of the week, Henry B. Walthall will hold the screen in "And a Still Small Voice," the daily program will be completed by short reels and orchestral accompaniment.

COLUMBIA.
In a splendid picture entitled "Heart of Gold," Louise Huff appears at Loew's Columbia Theater for the remainder of this week beginning today. As the heroine, Miss Huff designs a dress in a national contest

SPEED UP BILL TO GIVE SOLDIERS JOBS

A special rule will be obtained in the House in all probability for the consideration of the bill, which has just been reported by Congress Jones of Texas from the committee on reform in the civil service, giving preference in Government employment to returned soldiers and sailors.

It is expected the bill will pass the House soon, and will be enacted this session.

Not only does it provide for preference in appointment to returned soldiers and sailors, as well as marines, but also for the re-instatement of those who were in the civil employment of the Government, and left it to enter the military or naval service. Such persons are to be reinstated at a salary not less than that received at the time of giving up the position.

Must Take Examination.
The House, in connection with the conference report on the bill, has adopted a provision for preference to discharged soldiers and sailors in Government appointments. This, however, is general. The proposed measure, reported from the House Committee on reform in the civil service, is detailed and specific. It provides that veterans shall take the civil service examination in the regular way and stand the usual examination, but if they make a passing grade they go to the head of the list and must be appointed.

With reference to positions requiring scientific, technical or professional skill, the preference may, in the discretion of the commission, be reduced to 10 per cent to be added to the grades actually made by veterans who stand examination.

Congressman Jones' Report.
In making the report, Mr. Jones said:

"In presenting this measure the committee had before it and took into consideration the provisions of a bill introduced by Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, a bill introduced by Mr. Green, of Iowa, and a bill introduced by Mr. LaGuardia, of New York, as well as the bill introduced by Mr. Harrison, of Mississippi, upon which this report is made.

"The bill as presented provides a preference in the classified service for returned soldiers and sailors if they are qualified to fill the positions sought. The measure stipulates that such veterans shall apply in the regular way and stand the usual examination. In the event such applicant makes a passing grade he is placed at the head of the list and must be certified and appointed. Provision is made, however, that with reference to positions requiring scientific, technical, or professional skill, the preference may, in the discretion of the commission, be reduced to 10 per cent to be added to the grades actually made by the applicant who stands the examination.

"In considering the subject matter of this bill the committee has not been unmindful of the needs and demands of the public service, and has sought to guard the merit and every way possible consistent with the general interest of the Government.

"The strongest attractions on the American Burlesque Circuit will come to the Lyceum Theater next week. Billy Watson's "Orientals," "The Joy Line," a take-off on the prohibition question, and "Reilly's Reception," depicting incidents at an Irish dance, will be the two main attractions. Kendall, the popular Irish wit, heads a cast of forty people, which includes, besides Vito Sapoto, the feminine star, Jean Schuler, Bob Saccary, J. Lee Allen, Nellie Crawford, and Jenny Delmar. A chorus of sprightly girls will assist in furnishing the novel and unusual entertainment.

PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA.
A concert centering all the interest in specially selected numbers for the orchestra, without the aid of an assisting soloist, is announced for the Philadelphia Orchestra next Tuesday afternoon, at the National Theater.

Conductor Leopold Stokowski has chosen Beethoven's Eighth Symphony for the occasion. The program opens with Mozart's "Figaro" overture. In the second part of the program the modern note is sounded in "The Haunted Castle," by Michel Dvorak, and two nocturnes of Debussy, "The Nages" and "Peters." The orchestra will play also the prelude and love-dance from "Tristan and Isolde."

Tickets may be had at T. Arthur Smith's office, 1306 G street.

NEWMAN TRAVELTALK.
"Wartime Italy," Newman's travel talk this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and this evening at 8 o'clock at the Masonic Temple Auditorium, will cover a field of the great war which is not so familiar to the general public. It will be copiously illustrated with colored views and motion pictures of Rome, the Adriatic, Padua, and Venice, where the Austrian air raids were frequent and destructive, and also the operations on the Asiago plateau and on the Piave, where the French victory was a potent factor in bringing about the armistice.

STANLEY-THIBAUD RECITAL.
In the unusual series of concerts which Mrs. Osa B. Talbot's Fine Art Enterprises is presenting at the Shubert-Belasco Theater, the joint appearance of Mme. Helen Stanley, soprano, and Jacques Thibaud, violinist, on Sunday afternoon, February 9, should prove an unusual attraction.

Americans have reason to be proud of Mme. Helen Stanley's success in the musical world, here and abroad. As for Jacques Thibaud, the famous French violinist, there is a gratifying proof of his art in the name which he has made for himself in the short time he has been in America.

eral purposes of the bill. However, in view of the tremendous sacrifices that are necessarily made by the soldier or sailor who surrenders his place in the commercial fabric of the country to serve the nation in a time of peril, it seems but fair and just that a substantial preference should be given him. This is true not only because of the small compensation allowed such soldier and sailor, but also because of the time lost from their regular work while in the service. Under these circumstances it would seem that the preference allowed by the terms of the reported bill has been earned by those upon whom it confers the benefit.

The existing preference allowed veterans is contained in section 1754 Revised Statutes, which is as follows: "Persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty shall be preferred for appointment to civil offices, provided they are found to possess the business capacity necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such offices."

It will be noted that the existing law is very general in its terms, inures only to the benefit of disabled veterans, and is so indefinite in its verbiage as to allow wide latitude in its construction and application, and, in fact, would practically require substantial preference whatever. The bill presented by the committee retains this preference, makes it more specific, and broadens the terms as well as the field of preference.

"The measure also provides for the reinstatement of those who were in the civil employment of the United States at the time they entered the military or naval service in the same grade, and at a salary not less than that received at the time of the surrender of such position."

"Provision is made for the retention of the existing laws of apportionment to the various States."

NORTH AMERICAN IMPORTS.
WORLD'S LARGEST IN 1918

North American imports during the year 1918 exceed those of any other grand division by more than $100,000,000, according to statistics made public by the Department of Commerce today.

European exports for the same period, however, were practically double those of North America, the figures show.

FOR RED BLOOD
Strength and Endurance
THINK of the strong, hearty men and women you know—people who are prominent and who are doing things worth while and you will find that they usually possess remarkable force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brim over when the blood is filled with iron. Iron is red-blood food—it helps put strength and energy into the veins of men and roses into the cheeks of women. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new blood cells strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed energy and endurance into the whole system. If people would only keep their blood filled with strength-giving iron by taking Nuxated Iron when they feel weak, run-down and nervous, they might readily build up their red-blood corpuscles and quickly become stronger and healthier in every way. Unlike the older inorganic products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, delicate people in two weeks' time. It is dispensed by all good druggists.
